DETAILED ACTIONDouble Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1 - 22 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 - 21 of U.S. Patent No. 6,694,159. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of the patent are written in Jepson form ("In a method of optical imaging ...") which implies that the results of the method of the patent are used in an imaging step. Therefore, it is at least obvious to implement the method of the patent by "using said optimal value for each of said parameter values in imaging said turbid media." Further, although the method of the patent is not directed to a particular optical imaging system, it would have been within the skill level of the art at the time of the invention to determine an appropriate optical imaging system for implementing the method, including a TPSF imaging system.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Thomas et al., Brown, and Haaland teach various selection and optimization methods for use in optical measurements. However, none of the prior art teaches or suggests, either alone or in combination, a method of optical imaging of turbid media that includes determining an optimal value for each of a plurality of parameter values to be optimized as a function of a performance of the system in measuring a concentration of chromophores in the turbid media for characterizing a property as a whole, in combination with the other steps.
